

While in the presence of superiors, words spoken should be few. But one can talk to edification at a time, and while we are talking they are silent, and had we been silent and they talking we might have gained valuable information. Besides that, we are in great danger of betraying our weakness, especially if they are strangers. It is also better to acknowledge our ignorance at once than to launch forth upon a subject that we are not thoroughly conversant with. It is better to ask questions for information than to attempt to converse upon topics which we do not comprehend.

Let us take time to read our Bible. Its treasures will last when we shall have ceased to care for the war of political parties, the rise and fall of stocks, or the petty happenings of the day.
